DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND LABOR,
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS,
Washington, December 14, 1910.

SIR:

I transmit herewith a bulletin giving the population of the United States as enumerated at the Thirteenth Census, 1910. The tables contained in the bulletin present comparative statistics of population, density, and decennial increase for the states and territories, and for Porto Rico. Apportionment population figures for the different states, obtained by subtracting from the total population of each state the number of Indians not taxed, are given in the final table.

This bulletin has been prepared under the supervision of Mr. William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population.

Director of the Census.

Hon. CHARLES NAGEL,
Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES, 1910.

The Thirteenth Census of the United States was taken by the Bureau of the Census as of April 15, 1910. The total area enumerated includes continental United States, the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and Porto Rico. The enumeration also includes persons stationed abroad in the military and naval service of the Government, who were specially enumerated through the cooperation of the War and Navy Departments.

Table I is a complete population statement for the area enumerated in 1910, distinguishing continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and military and naval. The last four classes are grouped together under the head of "Noncontiguous territory." The corresponding figures of the Twelfth Census of 1900 are also given for purposes of comparison.

Table I.—POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES—TOTAL AREA OF ENUMERATION, CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES, AND NONCONTIGUOUS TERRITORY: 1910 AND 1900.

The rate of increase from 1900 to 1910 was 20.9 per cent for the total area of enumeration and 21 per cent for continental United States. It will be noted that Table I does not cover other possessions of the United States than the ones mentioned. Including the population of Philippine Islands as enumerated by the census of 1903 under the direction of the War Department, 7,635,426, and adding estimates for the islands of Guam and Samoa and the Canal Zone, the total population of the United States and possessions is about 101,100,000.

Table II relates to continental United States only. There is given the population as enumerated at each census from 1790 to 1910, together with the number and per cent of increase for each decade since 1790.

Table III gives the population of continental United States for each census from 1890 to 1910, by states. The states are grouped according to their geographical location into nine main divisions—New England, Middle Atlantic, East North Central, West North Central, South Atlantic, East South Central, West South Central, Mountain, and Pacific. There is also given the number and per cent of increase for each division and each state during the two decades since 1890, and the ranking of the states as to total population in 1910 and 1900.

Density figures for 1910, 1900, and 1890 are shown in Table IV. This table gives the population per square mile of land area for each state and territory, in each of the three census years named. The states, not including the District of Columbia, are arranged in the table in the order of the density of their population in 1910.

Table V gives for 1910 the population of each state, exclusive of Indians not taxed, who according to the Constitution are not to be included in the population forming the basis of the apportionment of Representatives among the several states. The population of the territories of Arizona and New Mexico is not included in the main table, but is added as an appendix. As soon as these territories become states the total population of the states, exclusive of Indians not taxed, will be 91,569,325.
